Canadian artist Laurie McGaw is best known for her vibrant, realistic portraits. Her works have captivated collectors for many years and hang in private, corporate and institutional collections.

Recent commissioned portraits include Dr. Elizabeth Stone (past Dean, Ontario Veterinary College, University of Guelph) and Mr. John Mulvihill (past Chair, University Health Network Board of Trustees, Toronto, and Member of the Order of Canada).

Laurie works from her studio in historic downtown Guelph where she conducts weekly open painting sessions, as well as portrait painting workshops.
